GIDDY UKIAHITES ENJOY PLEASURES OF QUADRILLE

LAYTONVILLE, August 11.—In this out-of-the-way section, where the frenzied and fatigueing capers of the modern dances have not altogether supplanted the leisurely and dignified quadrille, some very enjoyable hops are indulged in by the young people of all ages. Several Ukiah couples were noticed in a quadrille on one of these occasions at Cummings last week, in fact the set was entirely composed of Ukiah representatives. They were Mayor H. B. Smith and wife, of Ukiah, George Jamison and wife, Mr. Austin and wife and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Hobbs, guests of the Austins. The Jamisons, Austins and Hobbs' were here as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Smith and Geo. Lambert, who are camped near here.

The party seemed to be enjoying themselves thoroughly. Mr. Jamison was heard to remark that although he has played for about a million dances, this was the first time he had ever indulged in one.

INSPECTORS APPOINTED UNDER CATTLE LAW

The attention of stockmen is called to the fact that the last legislature passed a law which compells all cattle to be inspected for marks and brands before they can be shipped on the railroad. This law was passed on request of the State Cattlemen's Association and will prevent stolen cattle from being shipped.

The following inspectors have already been appointed and several more will be very shortly: Roy Dunlap for Bell Springs station, postoffice address, Spyrock; W. A. Cooper, Dos Rios; Merrill Williams, Laytonville; T. H. Dill, Longvale; Joseph Josep Weselsky, Ukiah; D. Wimmer, Willits; E. A. Gravier, Covelo.

GOVERNMENT MAY AID ARNOLD-CUMMINGS ROAD

The California State Highway Commission on behalf of the state has executed an agreement with the Secretary of Agriculture for the joint construction of the state highway from Arnold Station north to Rattlesnake summit as a Federal Aid project.

The stretch of road included is about 25 miles in length.

MANY OPERATIONS FOR ADENOIDS AND TONSILS

Dr. S. L. Rea has been exceedingly busy the past few months performing operations at the county hospital for the removal of the tonsile and adenoids of many children in this vicinity. The doctor states that the number of children requiring these operations is amazing.

A clinic is held where the work is done free for those who are unable to pay, but a charge is made for others.

The county hospital is now one of the best equipped north of San Francisco and operations of all character may be accommodated there.

PARTY FOR MISS THOMAS

A very enjoyable swimming party was given last Wednesday evening in honor of Miss Dorothy Thomas, charming and talented daughter of Attorney and Mrs. W. P. Thomas, who is leaving this week to enter the state university. The affair was attended by the entire younger social set of the town. A supper on the river bank followed the swimming.

TO JUDGE RABBITS AT SACRAMENTO FAIR

County Clerk Hale Prather leaves the latter part of this month for Sacramento, where he will attend the State Fair and where he will also act as judge of the rabbit section of the livestock exhibit.

Mr. Prather is a world authority on rabbits and his services as a judge are much in demand.

PITY THE POOR MILLIONAIRE

This week two hundred big round iron men rolled from hte pockets of Frank C. Drew, millionaire lawyer, and erstwhile lumber king of Mendocino county, into the eager palm of County Treasurer Clair Smith.

Pity the poor millionaire.

Caught between the Scylla of a 100-day jail sentence and the Charybdis of a $200 fine his egotism has been torn to shreds and its mangled remains tossed to the merciless minions of the press.

A sacrifice to the Moloch of judicial dignity, for aye his fate shall remain an awful example to him who shall rashly venture to disregard the mandate of the law.

All of which, translated into the native language, means that Frank Drew, millionaire though he is, ran up against something bigger and more powerful than he is, and the steam roller has flattened him out.

Drew was asked to appear and testify before the local court in the case of Phil Lobree vs. the Goodyear Redwood Co., and the L. E. White Lumber Company. As president of the last-named concern, he was supposed to have cognizance of certain matters which Attorney Robert Duncan, appearing for Lobree wished placed in evidence before Judge White. He begged off on account of sickness the first time he was summoned and refused to appear the second time. Whereupon Judge White imposed a fine of $200 with the alternative of 100 days in jail for contempt of court.

Drew carried the case to the State Supreme Court, but they backed up Judge White like a stone wall.

And Duncan wears a fiendish grin as he contemplates the shreds of the Drew dignity.

BIG PRICE FOR CATTLE

E. A. Gravier, the Covelo butcher, was in Ukiah Tuesday transacting some legal business. He told a Dispatch reporter that the Round Valley Indian Reservation cattle were sold last Monday to a buyer from San Francisco. The cattle brought $18.10 per hundred, gross weight, or $9.05 net weight. The average steer now brings a little better than $100.

HOP PICKING SEASON STARTS NEXT MONDAY

The hoppicking season will be started next Monday at the Leslie Crawford ranch, which is usually the first ranch in this section to begin picking. Wayne Crawford will be a close second and it is expected that by the end of the week the yards all over the valley will be going at full capacity.

While the cool weather of the past three weeks has been rather unfavorable for hops, nevertheless they are coming on fairly well since the first of the week, when warmer weather set in, and the crop will be above the average as to quality although somewhat below it in quantity.

NEW BRIDGE ACROSS RIVER PROVIDED FOR IN BUDGET

The projected new bridge across Russian river east of the Lloyd Wallace ranch, which was agitated last spring to give the farmers of the section across the river an outlet to the highway, will probably be provided for in the coming tax levy, the supervisors having included it in their budget. The need for the bridge is very pressing and it is to be hoped that the construction will start in the very near future.

ATTENDS LAUNDRYMEN'S MEETING IN SAN FRANCISCO

Mrs. Birdie Knudsen, proprietor of the steam laundry, left for San Francisco and Sacramento yesterday. Mrs. Knudsen, who believes in keeping abreast of the times, makes these trips very frequently to learn the newest in connection with her business. On this trip she will attend the laundrymens' meeting with the state commission appointed to regulate laundry charges at which time a general revision of prices will be recommended by the commission.

IRATE OLD MAN SHOOTS UP ICE CREAM JOINT

C. Sanders, resident of Covelo was brought down to Ukiah by Constable Ward Ries, the latter part of last week and put at the county farm pending his preliminary examination on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

Sanders, who is an elderly man, took three shots at a group of young men who were engaged in a dispute on the street at Covelo. Their quarrel began under his window and he opened the window and told them to go away, according to the peace officers. They moved across the street. Sanders watched them and from their actions gained the idea that they were making fun of him. Thereupon he opened the window and began shooting with a rifle. "I shot to the right of them first," he explained, "then I shot to the left of them. Then I wanted to show them I meant business, so I shot in in front of them." The last shot threw dirt on the disputants and they scattered.

The bullet glanced from the ground and went through the window of an ice cream parlor and caused a stampede among the habitues of the place.

Sanders was taken back to Covelo to attend a preliminary, but it is reported that he was turned loose.

ORNBAUN CASE SET FOR AUGUST 22

The cases against John Ornbaun and Joe Robinson, Boonville men arrested by Game Warden Perkins, for killing deer before the season opened, will be heard August 22 before Judge Hurley, unless the defendants should change their minds and decide to plead guilty. Ornbaun offered to pay a $25 fine if Judge Hurley would admit Robinson to probation, but the judge would made no promises, so the case will probably go to trial before a jury.

Miss Lucille Cleland, who has been spending a few days here visiting her parents, left yesterday for Eureka for a short visit, after which she will return to Oakland, where she will resume her position in the Oakland schools.

LESLIE CRAWFORD AGAIN TO DIRECT COUNTY EXHIBIT

Leslie Crawford, progressive rancher of Ukiah Valley, who for several years has figured most successfully as director of Mendocino county's exhibit at the California Land Show, has again been appointed by the Supervisors to take charge of the exhibit this year.

Mr. Crawford's untiring efforts in this connection in the past have made the Mendocino county exhibit scond to none at the land shows and no better choice could be made by the Supervisors.

Mrs. J. P. Moffitt, mother of Mrs. Horace Weldon, departed this week for her home in New York after an extended visit with her daughters here.

Burnham Ball Bags Big Buck

"Who is the guy doing all the loud talking?" we inquired as we wandered into Ball's cigar store last Monday evening, and listened for moment to the vociferous boasts that were emanating from the pool room. We walked to the rear of the store and peered through the glass partition into the pool room and were able to make out the form of someone on one of the pool tables holding forth to empty chairs. Owing to the semi-darkness then obtaining in the room we could not make out the identity of the orator. We walked back to the front

"Don't bother him. That's Ball," said John Redemeyer. "He just got back from hunting and he killed a buck. He's telling all the world about it."

"What's the story," and we got out our note book.

"Well the true story isn't the one he's telling," said Redemeyer. "You see, it's like this. Ball and his two sons-in-law, Lilburn Gibson and Harold Hollifday went up to Gardie Gibson's hunting. The girls implored the boys to try to fix it so papa could kill a doe or something, so Lilburn went out and located a bunch of deer, picked out a nice four-pointer and shot him through one horn, leaving it just so the horn wouldn't drop off. Then they took Burnham out the next morning and pointed the buck out to him. Ball sneaked down the hill until he got within about ten feet of the deer. The buck was watching him all the time and just as Ball shot the buck jumped to one side, and dodged the bullet. He turned to run away then, but as he wheeled, the broken horn dropped off. Of course, that overbalanced him and he fell down. Before he could get up again, Ball lit astradle of him and drew his trusty butcher knife, and before the boys could run the hundred yards or so down the hill and pull him off he had stabbed that buck three thousand times. He ruined the hide, of course."

We took another promenade to the rear and looked through at Ball on the pool table. "Yessir, that's the way we used to get 'em in Anderson Valley when I was a boy. Didn't need a gun. Just run 'em down, jumped astradle of 'em and stabbed 'em with a butcher knife. Yessir, that's the way we used to get 'em in Anderson Valley when I was a young feller."

We tiptoed softly out and wandered across the street and back to the sanctum.

IT'S AN ILL WIND THAT BLOWS NOBODY GOOD

At least that seems to be the attitude of Emmett Donohoe, who suffered the fracture of several bones in his wrist the first of the week while cranking his Chevrolet car, after getting it from the battery man, who had been overhauling the electric system.

Emmett instead of pining over his enforced inactivity says he needs the rest anyhow, as he has not had a vacation in 12 years and so he is making the most of the opportunity.

Some people are born optimists, some acquire optimism and some have optimism thrust upon them, to which latter class Donohoe belongs.

MRS. HARRY BEARD UNDER SURGEON'S KNIFE

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Beard came down from their home at Dos Rios the latter part of last week for the purpose of securing medical attention for Mrs. Beard. Monday she was operated on by Dr. Rea at the Langland Hospital and a section of intestine removed, which had been almost stopped by a growth. She is now progressing very favorably.

NO CHANGE IN CITY ASSESSMENT ROLLS

The Board of City Trustees met last Tuesday morning for the purpose of equalizing the assessment rolls of the city. There were no complaints from any of the tax payers and the rolls remain the same as made out. The board will meet next month to set the tax rate and it is likely that the entire assessment will be boosted by a certain percentage to make up for the loss of the saloon licenses.

BUSINESS POOR IN CO. CLERK'S OFFICE

"Business is rotton, thank you," said County Clerk Hale Prather yesterday, in answer to a solicitous inquiry by the Dispatch reporter.

Prather's grouch is caused by the fact that but three new cases have been filed since the first of August about a fifth of the usual run.

Mattie Rahn, the widow, has filed a petition for letters in the estate of Hubert Rahn, who died in Napa county recently leaving personal property in Mendocino county valued at $5000.

Joe H. Scuddamore, through Mannon & Mannon, has filed a suit against Sallie Christie Scuddamore, asking for a divorce on the grounds of cruelty.

ROY DOUGLASS HERE

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Douglass and two daughters, Dorothy and Bernice, arrived in Ukiah the latter part of last week and are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Bert Miller. Their home is in Berkeley, where Roy is engaged in the automobile repair business and doing well. The two daughters of the family are blossoming into very attractive young ladies and were scarcely recognized by their friends here who, it seems but yesterday, knew them in pinafores.

SUPERVISOR FORD GOES AS DELEGATE TO SACTO.

Representing the interests of the Ukiah Chamber of Commerce, Supervisor E. M. Ford departed Wednesday for Sacramento, where he attended a conference yesterday between the Sutter-Buttes-Tahoe-Ukiah highway association and the state highway commission.

Herman Knaesche will appear before Judge White in the Superior Court tomorrow morning to be arraigned on the charge of murdering his wife.

Mrs. J. A. McMaster and daughter were registered in Ukiah from Mendocino last Tuesday.

WILLITS NOTES

WILLITS, Aug. 12—Stanley Garoutte and Miss Gertrude Baffico were married at Ukiah last Thursday afternoon by Judge J. C. Hurley. They returned to Willits that afternoon and that evening were given a fine wedding dinner at the Grand-Central. The groom came here about a month ago and is in the auto repair business. The bride was an over sea nurse and came back and was discharged from the service early last spring.

Ira Ordway and C. E. Palmer made a trip to San Luis Obispo county last week and purchased eight carloads of range cattle, some of which were sold in San Francisco. 107 head were brought to Willits and taken to Mr. Ordway's ranch in long valley. The southern country is short of feed and water and they are now shipping the range cattle to this part of the state.

Chris Hansen has bought back the Willits Meat Market from Archie Jones and will take possession in a few months.

Three girl babies have made their appearance here. Their proud parents are: Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bradley and Mr. and Mrs. James Brown.

Jake Shire, the local yardmaster for the Northwestern Pacific railroad, was taken to St. Lukes hospital, San Francisco, last week for medical treatment. Last winter Mr. Shire had the flu and he never fully recovered. About a month ago he commenced having hemorrhages and as they were getting worse he was taken to the city for special treatment. We are told that it is a common occurrence for flu victims to develop other troubles. Before his illness last winter Jake was strong and healthy and hardly knew what it was to be ill.

The remains of the late Mrs. Irene Hyland were brought up from San Francisco and buried here that afternoon. She was 27 years of age and a victim of tuberculosis. She leaves a son and husband to mourn her untimely end. She was a daughter of the late Mrs. Mollie Cox and was a former resident of Sherwood.

FT. BRAGG NEWS

FORT BRAGG, August 12.—With a big run of salmon at Shelter Cove last week and a catch of 12 ton by 41 boats out of Noyo Sunday, the mildcuring plants and cannery have been running at top speed of late.

The shortage of refrigerator cars is making it very hard for the mildcure firms to ship their packs to San Francisco for storage. Local cold storage accommodations are inadequate for the large volumn of fish being handled this year. Reports also come from Santa Rosa that Sonoma countys big apple crop is also endangered by the shortage of refrigerator cars, the packers being at present twenty car loads ahead of the shippers.

Emery Wing, who resided at Point Arena about thirty years ago, died at his home in Eureka last Wednesday after a long illness, aged 88 years. He leaves a wife and four sons.

George R. King, a well known pioneer of this city, passed away Saturday, aged 72 years, 4 months and 29 days. The infirmities of old age were the cause of death.

Henry Thurman's friends will be glad to hear that he has charge of a lumber yard at Bullwinkle, Humboldt county, and that he and his family are doing nicely.

The stork visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bullis Friday morning and left a little daughter.

E. V. Adge finished the repair work Monday on the fishing launch "Cleo" which went ashore at the mouth of the Noyo two weeks ago. Damages, by sand and salt water to the machinery and the ripping of several boards off the hull, amounted to about $300, aside from the two weeks of time the owner lost from fishing. While entering the river Sunday evening two other launches went on the beach but they were fortunately pulled off before any damage was done.

Leland Milliken, who recently acquired the coast stock interests of Ordway Brothers, has made a deal with the Mendocino Lumber Company whereby he has taken over their 250 head of cattle and will hereafter furnish their camps with meat. The cattle are so wild on this range that in the past it has been necessary to shoot them with a rifle and butcher them on the spot. Milliken is of the opinion, however, that he will be able to handle them with dogs and ropes and will have corrals built at the Little North Fork for rounding-up purposes.

DOESN'T THINK MUCH OF BROWNIES AS BALLPLAYERS

The sporting scribe of the Santa Rosa Republican doesn't think much of our Brownies as a baseball agregation, but, if we remember correctly Santa Rosa didn't do much to be proud of on the occasion of their appearance on the local diamond. The Brownies last Sunday got on the score-board, at least, which Santa Rosa was unable to do here.

Here's what the baseball writer of the Republican had to say about the game:

Ukiah's hopeful baseballists went home a saddened and wiser bunch after the game at Hawkes Park Sunday afternoon, when they were snowed under 8 to 4. They were outclassed in every department except one, that of making boots and at that Pete Maroni tried to make a new record in that line. Van Dyke can't lay the loss of the game entirely to his teammates, as he contributed three in the error column himself.

Incidently, Ukiah uncorked one play which is probably unique in the annals of baseball, that of scoring three runs on a single. In the eighth, Lou Ruddick, Pool and Hutton singled in a row, filling the bases. Eilers came up to bat and dropped a single in right field, cleaning the bases while he remained at first. There were several errors of omission in judgment on the playing of the ball at this juncture, but none of record on the score sheet.

Babe Pierotti pitched air-tight ball until the eighth, when four singles followed in quick succession while he did a little aeroplaning. He had two men down when the balloon went up.

UKIAH PLAYS POOR BALL

Ukiah played some of the poorest ball in the field seen here this season. Walker at short possessed nothing much beyond his unform to show that he was a ball-player. Oh, yes, we almost forgot to mention, that he had a smear under each eye, though for what reason we can't imagine, as he didn't face the sun at any time in his perambulations.

Gazale was brought in from left to fill the short field in the seventh and Walker was still out of shape in left. He pulled four boots out of six chances.

From the standpoint of clean playing the game was a disappointment to the scientific fan, but the crowd was whooping it up every minute and was impartial as to which team it happed to be rooting for.

Aside from the seventh and eighth innings, the score board showed mostly round goose eggs on both sides, it being largely a pitcher's battle. Van Dyke certainly possessed some real foolers in his repertoire, his underhand throws being especially deceptive, and he had the locals reaching for some wide outs. With a fine fielding bunch back of him he could have made a real snowing.

REDWOOD VALLEY

REDWOOD VALLEY, August 13.—The Farm Bureau center met at the Club House Tuesday night. Mr. E. Martin was elected director to succeed A. Lovestedt. It was decided to meet at the Forsythe School house during September and October. J. Lee Smith volunteered to weigh the pigs for the boys' pig club. Mr. Lovestedt formerly did this work.

Roy Ford and Harry Winsby got a nice buck the first of the week.

Fred Finne and Felix Cassabone were also successful in bagging a nice one.

The Finnish Colony is threshing in the valley this week after a long run in Ukiah and Coyote Valleys. They will finish up on their own ranch.

Scout Master H. Johnson and his Potter Valley Boy Scouts promise a first class entertainment at the Club House Saturday night, August 16, at 8:30. Admission will be adults 25c, children 15c. Refreshments will be served free.

J. C. Darlington has sold his ranch to Mr. Roller of Talmage. Mr. Roller is a brother-in-law of J. W. Cowen. Mr. Darlington has made no plans for the future but will remain here for several weeks yet.

E. Pagel's railroad gang is busy at Redwood installing a new water storage tank. Work is progressing on the "Y" also.

Preliminary work was started on another charcoal kiln this week.

The Improvement Club met last Saturday night. It was decided to try and get one of the fruit experiment stations which the state intends to establish, located in Mendocino county.

Mr. Yates gave an interesting report of the "Good Roads Conference" at Eureka which himself and Mr. Martin attended as representatives of the county farm bureau.

The sum of $24.20 was turned into the Improvement Club as the net proceeds of the dance at the Club House on August 2nd.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Malpas, who have been visiting in this county for the past two weeks, left the first of the week for their home in San Francisco.

THE BETTER MAN

By MARY PARSONS.

(Copyright, 1918, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"Barbara, dear, I'm so mixed up. I don't know what in the world to do—please help me!"

"What's the trouble, now, child—is it Sam or Charley?"

"Neither—I mean both. I don't know which I'm in love with. I think it's Sam till Charley comes to see me, and then he is so good looking—just like a collar ad—and he looks at me so deeply—you know how I mean—that I think I'm all wrong again and it must be he. He's ever so much more popular with the girls, too. Now Sam never says any of the nice little things Charley does, and he's ever so blunt sometimes, but somehow I don't know. I'm not sure, but I think Sam is the better man. You're older and wiser than I am, Barbara; tell me why you admire Sam more. I've always thought you did whenever I talk about them, but you've never said anything. Please tell me."

The older girl got up and walked over to the window. For a moment she did not say anything. Then she sank into a seat with a little sigh.

"Polly, child there isn't anything in the world I know against Charley—it wouldn't be fair to say there was, for he may care for you even more than I think he does—but I'm going to tell you a little story, if you have time to listen."

"Of course, Babs," assured Polly, settling her attractive little person into a perfect nest of cushions.

"Once upon a time," began Barbara, "there was a girl—not a beautiful girl—just a bright, frank, cheerful girl, with a sense of humor and lots of friends. She liked men sincerely, but she was neither very susceptible nor very foolish, and she had seen something of life.

"There was one man she had known for a long time, and she always admired and liked him tremendously.

"So they went out together, danced together and talked together, and he was very nice to her. She found that she could talk to him as she had never been able to talk to anyone before, and he always seemed to understand. She began to value his friendship, above all her other friends, and to depend on his help and advice in many little things. He liked to help her, and as the months passed they grew to be better and better friends, with a clearer understanding of each other than they had ever had.

"Then, she went away for a long visit. And he almost made her believe that he would really miss her badly—and she was very glad.

"And she wrote to him naturally, as a child would write to a very favorite uncle or a dear kind friend who was older and wiser than she, long, newsy letters about all the daily happenings—and she dearly loved to write to him.

"He wrote to her twice; then there was a long lapse. Then, a third letter came which might have been written to an utter stranger with perfect safety—air and weather being the main topics. This was after she had impulsively written to him for help and sympathy over what seemed to her a very great trouble, and he had failed her—dismally failed her. She wrote to him once more, but she never sent the letter. She could not thrust her friendship upon him if he did not want it.

"And though she was bound to meet him and did not wish to obviously avoid him, she did not need to, for he showed no desire for any sort of a meeting and flitted about among the girls as he had probably always done. And she tried always to be fair to him and not to judge him—she liked to remember him rather as a friend who had died than one who had ceased to value her friendship—she simply could not understand. That's all I know about Charley and it's two years ago—he's probably forgotten all about it long ago.

"That's all, Polly dear. It isn't much of a story, but I thought I'd tell it to you. Somehow, from my own standards, it doesn't seem to me as if a man who would hurt anyone so cruelly, so blindly and with such utter indifference, could measure up to quite the same standard as a man like Sam, who is fair and square in everything he does.

Polly sat still for a long time after Barbara stopped talking.

"Thank you for telling me the story," she said at last.

A maid came to the door with a telegram. Polly glanced at the address, seized it and tore it open hastily. In a moment the paper dropped to the floor.

"It's from Sam," she gulped, "and he's going to the front, and he wants me to tell him before he goes—they won't let him off to come himself—oh, dear, it's terrible!"

"What are you going to write to him?"

"Write to him!—why, I'm going to that camp tonight—just as fast as I can pack mother's bag and my own; and I'm going to marry him tomorrow if they only let me see him for five minutes. I haven't any choice in the matter—there never was! I see it all now as plain as the nose on my face—he's the better man, the best man—the very best man in the world as far as I am concerned, at least, and I ought to have known it all along. Kiss me, Barbara; I'll have to hurry. When you see me again I'll be Mrs. Sam! Good-by, dear—I'll have to break the news to mother—good-by!"

O. P. Wells, a progressive rancher of Redwood Valley, was in Ukiah on business last Saturday.

Farms are Obtainable Under New State Act

Printed replies to the letters of inquiry of soldiers and other prospective farmers as to the new State act with an appropriation of one million dollars, permitting the settlement of land in California on desirable terms, are now being sent by the State Land Settlement Board from its headquarters at the University of California. Dr. Elwood Mead, Professor of Rural Institutions in the State University, is chairman of the Board.

Outlining the different steps under which tracts of unpeopled land may be changed into small individual farms, the 30-page pamphlet reply prints the original statute and the amendments enacted by the last legislature. There is also a blank form of application for either a farm or a farm laborer's allotment. The allotment to farm laborers in the first settlement at Durham is declared to have proved the stepping stone to the farm. Pictures of the homes of farm laborers indicate that life in this preparatory step is being made comfortable and attractive.

One or two areas for a new settlement to be purchased by the State Board from the million dollars carried in the last legislature enactment is expected to provide homes for about 300 farmers and farm workers. The money will be derived from a bond issued authorized by the legislature and expected to be approved by the people at the next election.

The first land settlement at Durham is considered by land authorities to be an eminent success.

HUNTER LEAVES FIRE; JUSTICE FINES HIM $50

ALDER SPRINGS, (Glenn Co.), August 4.—C. W. Frye of Sutter City, Cal., a member of a party of hunters camped at Slap Jack two and one half miles above Alder Springs, was left in camp by the other members of the party this morning but later decided to try his luck for a deer. On leaving camp he overlooked putting out a fire burning in a log, which had been used as a bonfire. Forest Guard Frank H. Prentice passing by the camp about eight o'clock in the morning noticed that a fire was burning and unattended. Prentice immediately decided to camp on the spot and wait for his man to return. Frye returned to camp about four o'clock and within one and one half hours after his return he was brought before Justice of the Peace William Dodd, at Elk Creek, and before whom he pleaded guilty to the offense of leaving a fire and paid a fine of $50.

Community Property Law

In view of the discussion now going on with reference to the so-called Community Property Law, which appears to be in a muddle, the following brief statement, which introduces an extended article in California Taxpayers' Journal, is of interest. It sets forth the points clearly, in nut-shell style:

"The club women of California desired, at the 1919 legislature, to have laws enacted giving the wife the ownership of one-half of all community property, and giving her the right to dispose of the same by will; also giving the husband or wife of an insane person power to sell community property when necessary. They succeeded in having four bills passed to accomplish these results.

"Senate Bill 680 gave the desired relief to the spouse of an insane person and was approved by the Governor, and is now the law.

"Assembly Bill 698 gave the wife an equal ownership with her husband in the community property, and Assembly Bill 697 provided the procedure by which it might be determined by the court whether or not the wife left a will. Both of these bills were vetoed by the Governor. Thus the attempt to give the wife ownership of one-half of the community property failed, and her rights are no greater than they were before.

"Senate Bill 471 provided the method by which the wife might dispose of her half of the community property by will. The Governor signed this bill, but it was delayed by a referendum petition, and must be voted upon by the people at the general election in 1920. This bill does not appear to be effective because the wife cannot dispose of property which she does not possess, but a discussion of the construction to be placed upon a statute is necessarily one to be maintained by members of the bar."

While riding in the hills on the old Edwards place near Orrs Springs last week, Mrs. Martin Edwards was badly frightened by a small cub bear, which dropped out of a tree almost on top of her horse. SUCH STORIES OFTEN YARNS.

Jack told me a capital story last night.
What was it?
How much he was worth.

Losses of Our Merchant Shipping.

From the beginning of the European war on August 3, 1914, to the armistice of November 11, 1918, the authenticated loss of American merchant vessels from acts of the enemy was 145 vessels of 354,449 gross tons, with the sacrifice of 775 lives, as shown by the official records of the bureau of navigation, department of commerce. These returns do not include the losses of vessels of the American navy or of the American army and lives thus sacrificed recorded by the navy and war departments. They do not include several cases of the loss of merchant vessels in which it is not yet established whether the loss was due to acts of the enemy.

Few Gold Miners Die Rich.

Few gold miners ever die rich, according to A. J. Blake, who was one of the first pioneers who staked claims in the Seward Peninsula district of Alaska, before the rich Nome beaches were discovered.

"It's a peculiar fact," said Blake, "that money made in gold mining rarely sticks to the man who makes it. Gold taken from the ground is the cleanest money extant in that it makes no other man poorer, and yet the men who make money in this way generally die poor."

Her Advantage.

"I see where a Frau Schwimmer has been appointed an ambassador from Hungary.

"Then, if necessary, she ought to be able, at least, to float a loan."

Most Costly Gown.

What is the most valuable costume in the world? The New York Outlook asks, and says in answer: "An inventory of the dresses of queens, of the wives of the maharajahs of India, and of the princesses of fashion in every land would no doubt include costumes of fabulous value, but could any of them match two gowns mentioned in Theophile Gautier's "Italy:" "The sacristy of the cathedral at Milan contains a treasure which ought not to surprise those who have seen the wardrobe of Notre Dame at Toledo, Spain, in which a single robe covered with white and black pearls is worth 7,000,000 francs ($1,400,000), and yet that of Milan is fully as valuable."

Miss Florence May, who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Cocking for the past three weeks, leaves today for the southern part of the state for a few weeks' visit, after which she will return to her home in Salt Lake City.

Narrow Squeak for District Attorney

All have heard the story of the boy whose father placed a rotten apple with the good apples to demonstrate to his son how bad company will eventually communicate decay to a chemically pure little boy. Personally we missed the point when the yarn was told us, the thought that occurred to us being that the father was flagrantly guilty of wasting good apples. But the story will serve as a parallel to the case of District Attorney McCowen, who last week was almost caught in lawless company.

As McCowen puts it, he "came within about fifty yards of being 'pinched,'", that being about the distance rrom his and his father's camp to the quarters occupied by a bunch of hunters consisting of Albert Sides and Dr. Crittenden, of Potter Valley Jack Perazzo of Ukiah, and John Leonard, a friend of Crittenden from San Jose, who were discovered by Game Warden Harry Britton, of Colusa, with too many deer for the size of the party.

Britton is the rider who patrols the game refuge on Hull Mountain to see that poachers keep without the bounds. He ran across the two camps and went nosing around, a habit game wardens seem to have in common with newspaper men, and discovered the carcasses of fourteen deer where there should have been but ten. After the smoke had cleared away and McCowen had demonstrated to Britton's satisfaction that his camp was separate rrom that of the others and that he had but two bucks, thus being within the law, the game warden pinched the others, who were unable to explain the presence of the four excess carcasses.

They were fined $25 each.

But it was a narrow squeak for the district attorney, now, wasn't it?

Incidentally Perazzo is the blamedest optimist we have yet discovered. "It might have been worse," said the genial Jack. "It's lucky we weren't in Lake county."

He referred to the case week before last, when Game Warden Dondero of Lake county captured a hunter with two bucks out of season and the justice fined him $125.

While hunting in the vicinity of Hullville, Lake County, E. Lauderback of 24 Emerson St., Berkeley, very unsportsman-like and apparently not satisfied with three and four pointers, shot a female fawn. On evidence secured by District Ranger G. E. Squires, Lauderback pleaded guilty before Justice of the Peace C. C. Banks, on August 11, at Upper Lake, and was fined $150.

SUDDEN DEATH SHOCKS ROBERT ANDERSON FAMILY

Robert Anderson and family were much surprised and shocked the first of the week to receive news of the death of Mr. Anderson's brother, who was here but a few weeks ago for a visit with the family. He was killed when his car stalled on a railroad crossing near Dunigan and was struck by a train.

His daughter, who was with him in the car, jumped and escaped injury.

The deceased had returned a short time ago from service in Siberia and the far east and was employed as a radio operator at Mare Island.

In St. John's M. E. Church, Aug. 17th the Gospel Team from the local chapter of the Epworth League will have charge of the services beginning at 7:30 in the church auditorium. evidence of a violation.

Dondero not entirely satisfied continued the search in the vicinity of the camp and found blood stains on rocks near a stream crossing. Taking up this clue he soon found the carcass of a female deer from which the meat had been removed; the head and hide being left nearby. From this find he was able to follow a trail of blood and small bits of meat which led directly into the camp of the suspected hunters and to the tree where a portion of the meat had been hung. The hunters, James C. Baldwin, J. P. Billingsley, C. W. Baldwin, J. A. Holden and A. A. Billingsley, all of Lakeport, Lake county, were brought before Justice of the Peace C. C. Banks, Upper Lake, this afternoon and collectively fined $125.

Advance of American Divisions at San Mihiel Had Been Planned With Elaborate Care.

In modern warfare a man's head is his chief asset, writes Duke Bolivar in Boys' Life. You all know that the St. Mihiel salient, encompassing 152 square miles of territory and 73 villages, was taken by the Americans. Did you know it was done by head work? Elaborate plans were made in advance and given out wholesale to the troops. One hundred thousand maps, covering minute details of the country, including natural defenses, and how it was manned by the enemy, were distributed, plus 30,000 photographs, scattered among officers of the artillery and infantry. Five thousand miles of telephone wire and 6,000 instruments were employed, and this elaborate system kept up with the advance of the army. By this service flanking troops could telephone their position back to the artillery. The telephone business of a city of 100,000 could have been handled by this equipment in whose operation 10,000 men were engaged. Thousands of carrier pigeons aided the signal corps. Extensive hospital facilities, 4,800 trucks, miles of railroad, were provided for this big military operation, and 10,000 feet of movie film were exposed, so all the soldiers had to do was to fight.

Prepared for the Future.

It was at the door of a store which had advertised exceptional bargains for that day, in the jam, that Mrs. Blank saw Mrs. Brown and rushed to shake hands with her and say:

"Oh, Mrs. Brown, are you here?"

"Yes, I am here, but I did not expect to meet you."

"Why, you see, I am going to join the new league and I am getting ready for it."

"Is it the Woman's League where we pledge ourselves not to buy a hat or a garment costing more than $10?"

"Yes, that is the one and I am going to join it, too. I am getting ready for it."

And they entered the store together and each bought a dress marked down from $80 to $48, and $20 hats and coats that cost over $60 each. They went out feeling that they could stand by their pledge.

Regulation of Packers Overshadows all Other Questions at Washington

WASHINGTON, August 5.—Overshadowing all other political and economic issues for 1920, the pending legislation in Congress to regulate the packers is coming to the front as the one big question for the nation to settle as soon as peace is established, and the government turns its attention to pressing domestic problems.

The packer battle has already foredoomed the Presidential boom of Governor Lowden of Illinois, because neither political party can afford to nominate a leader from a state where the throne of the packers is located. It defeated James R. Mann's cherished ambition for the speakership of the House. Other candidates, great and small, will make or break on the packer issue.

A few items in the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill, coupled with the Ballinger conservation issue broke up the Republican party before the campaign of 1912, and led Wilson to the presidency. There is more political dynamite in the packer legislation than in any half dozen issues in which the public has been interested in recent years. It is a question which reaches into the kitchen and the pocket book of every family in the country. As former Congressman Victor Murdoch recently said at a Congressional hearing: "This question will not down. You may try to evade the issue, or postpone it, but like Banquos ghost, it will arise to plague you."

The division lines in Congress on the Republican side are similar to those which disrupted the party in 1912. All the progressive group in Senate and House are behind the packer legislation. The group opposing the bill to regulate the packers are those who have long been counted as being for the interests first, and the people second. Behind the scenes in Congress the fight is growing bitter, and will break out into flaming rancor when the bills are forced up for consideration.

By virtue of having introduced the packer bills in the Senate, Senators Kenyon of Iowa and Kendrick of Wyoming, will lead the onslaught on the packers, vigorously backed by Senators Lenroot, Norris, Capper, and all the other two fisted fighters of the progressive group. Senator Sherman of Illinois, assisted by the thinning ranks of "old guard" Senators, will be relied upon by the packers to defend them against government regulation. On the House side, the packer bill is fathered by Representative Sidney Anderson of Minnesota, who defeated "Jim" Tawney a few years ago, and who has come to be regarded as one of the big men of the House.

Outside Congress, the bill to regulate the packers is finding formidable support. There was recently organized in Washington the National Marketing Committee, made up of representatives of all the big farming and consumers organizations, with the avowed purpose of conducting a campaign of education for the packer legislation. The executive officers of this central organization are former Congressmen William Kent, of California, President, with the following vice-presidents; C. H. Gustafson, chairman of the Farmers National Committee on Packing Plants and Allied Industries; Miss Florence Kelly, secretary of the National Consumers League; Herbert F. Baker, president of the Farmers National Council; Mrs. E. P. Costigan, chairman of the executive committee of the Consumers League of the District of Columbia; Jackson M. Ralston, counselor of the American Federation of Labor; and George P. Hampton, managing director of the Farmers National Council. These organizations have affiliations all over the country and constitute a formidable force.

Kent's selection to head the committee was the natural result of the part he played in bringing about the investigation of the packers which led to the pending legislation. It was his recommendation, sought by President Wilson, which defeated the plan of the packers to have the investigation scattered among several departments, and thus rendered abortive. As a practical cattleman, he was while in Congress, the chief factor in securing the passage of the Borland resolution for the investigation of the packers, and he, with Chairman Colver of the Federal Trade Commission, and Senators Kenyon and Kendrick, framed the packer bills. It was Kent's recommendation to President Wilson and the Federal Trade Commission which resulted in the appointment of Francis J. Heney of California to conduct the investigation. As a result the investigation was the first of a long line of government inquiries to bring out the actual facts concerning the packers, and for the first time put them on the defensive. Huge sums are now being spent by the packers in an effort to offset the disastrous effect of the investigation. At the recent hearings in Congress Louis F. Swift testified that Swift & Co., alone would spend $5,000,000 for its 1919 publicity. Armour's publicity fund is believed to be about the same, and the three other of the "Big Five" in proportion. It may be noted in passing that the consumer of meat and other foodstuffs pays for this propaganda.

The nub of the Kenyon-Anderson bills is in the licensing feature for the packers, with stringent regulations against combinations, trade restraints, price manipulation, and competition choking. The penalty for violation is a receivership in the public interest, obtainable only after charges preferred by the commissioner of Foodstuffs provided for in the bill, and a court hearing and order. The bills do not cover government ownership of the packers, but provide a form of regulation with "teeth" that the packers fear in advance, and must respect if made the law. Their fight is directed at this feature of the bill, and they are attempting to becloud the issue by raising the cry of government ownership.

The revelations of the packer investigation startled the wholesale grocers into realization that it was only a question of a short time when the Chicago packers would absorb their business, and from there the step would be short to the destruction of the retailers. The National Wholesale Grocers' Association, with its country wide affiliations, has joined the fight in support of the packer bills, and is keeping a keen watch on the vast packer propaganda

The real position of the packers was perhaps inadvertently let out of the bag recently in a statement given the Omaha "Bee' by E. Buckingham, vice-president of the packer owned stockyards at Omaha. Among other things, Mr. Buckingham said:

"There won't be any change. The stockyards and packing houses will operate just the same as usual. The packing business is as large as the government itself, and it is foolish for a lot of grandstanders to theorize on how it shall be conducted."

The position of the advocates of the bill was voiced in the Senate by Senator Kenyon on July 23 as follows:

"The bill concerning which there has been so much talk is not a government ownership bill. It is merely a bill to regulate the packers—stringent, yes; radical, yes; but the the things we now think are radical in five years we may not think are radical through a licensing system, concerning which there may be very valid objection, but which seems the only method in sight now; through a divorcement of the stockyards from the ownership of the packers, a divorcement of private cars from their control, and the power to keep them out of unrelated business."

The packer influence has not become so strong in the South as it has in other parts of the United States. The Southern Democrats will support the packer legislation partly for its merits, and partly from political motives. Senator Harris, of Georgia, formerly chairman of the Federal Trade Commission, will be one of the Democratic Senate leaders in favor of the measure. Senator Johnson of California has not yet taken a public stand on the bill, but is counted among its progressive supporters.

The packers are fighting for delay, hoping that the campaign of 1920 will result in an overturn in their favor. But long before that, either during this session, or the winter session, every member of Congress will stand up to be counted as for or against the packer interests. Every sign points to the enactment of curbing legislation. The only open question concerns the form it will finally take. The fight will be to keep the "teeth" in the bill, and it is this issue, becoming more clear every day, that will affect vitally the presidential and congressional campaign of 1920.

OUR BONDED DEBT

In 1911 the bonded indebtedness of the state, county and city governments in California, says the Taxpayers' Journal, was $93,906,423. On June 30, 1918, it had risen to $239,333,968.

In the seven years from June 30, 1911, to June 30, 1918, the bonded indebtedness increased $145,427,545 or 154.86 per cent. During this period the per capita of bonded indebtedness increased from $37.76 to $76.72 for each man, woman and child residing in California in 1918, an increase of $38.96 or 103.17 per cent.

The increase in the population of California during the seven years mentioned above has been approximately 25.4 per cent; therefore in amount the percentage of our bonded indebtedness has been four times the percentage of our increase in population.

In 1911 the bonded indebtedness of the state was $5,677,500 or 6.05 per cent of the total; of the counties $22,655,890 or 24.13 per cent, and that of the municipalities was $65,573,033, or 69.82 per cent. In 1918 the state's burden of the indebtedness had increased to $39,367,500 or 16.45 per cent; that of the counties to $62,947,875 or 21.30 per cent, and the municipalities to $137,018,593 or 57.25 per cent of the total burden.

These figures show that the bonded indebtedness of California and its subdivisions is increasing by leaps and bounds; that these increases are outdistancing population; that during a period of seven years the per capita of indebtedness has more than doubled; that the percentage of increase is over one hundred and fifty-four per cent; that the increases cannot be charged to either the state, counties or municipalities alone; that while the percentage of increase was greatest for the state government, the amount of increase was greatest for municipalities, and that both in amount and percentage the counties wedged in between the state and municipalities.

Before voting to load ourselves with enormous bond debts, do we consider whether or not we should issue bonds for "any old purpose"? Should we vote forty year bonds when we know that the asset to be obtained will not last twenty years? Do we know that by voting bonds for years longer than the life of the asset we are pyramiding our debt and mortgaging our future? Do we know that serial bonds will enable us to pay our bond debts in installments? Do we consider the expensiveness of the bond method for acquiring properties?

Do You Want to Sell?

As Fall advances, we are receiving more and more inquiries concerning Mendocino Co. real estate, and reference to our lists shows that we haven't the variety of offerings we would desire. Have you a ranch or some land that you wish to put on the market? If so, communicate with us, and let us have a description of what you have. Owing to recent activities, we expect to be in a position this fall to bring quite a number of prospective purchasers into this county, and if you wish to place your land with us, we will be pleased to show it to those who come, and to attempt to affect a sale thereof for you.

It makes no difference whether your property be rough land of little value, or whether it be a good stock ranch of several thousand acres, or a farm in the valley. We have all kinds of inquires, and we desire to have all kinds of listings.

Unless you have given someother agent the exclusive privilege in writing to make your sale for you, we invite you to list with us. Because you have given some other person the privilege of selling for you, unless it be exclusive, is no reason why you cannot list with us also, and the more people you give the listings to, the more liable you are to have your property sold.

Our commissions are a straight five per cent on the purchase prices paid.

Spike Buck Costs Hunter $200

If you are hunting in the vicinity of Laytonville during the remainder of the season, be careful. If you can't be careful be cautious. Be sure first that the animal you shoot at is a deer, next that it has horns, finally that it is not a spike. Of course if you miss it does not matter, but if you happen to kill a spike, as we said above, be cautious.

For W. H. Hicks, of Laytonville, killed a spike buck last week and wasn't cautious and got caught, and it cost him $200 and everything. Deputy Game Warden John Hellard was the arresting officer, and Judge Furniss of Laytonville, was the presiding magistrate. Evidently the judge does not get a chance to fine a man very often, and believes in improving every shining minute when the opportunity does occasionally present itself.

Hicks was given the alternative of six months in jail, but chose the fine.

Pat Sneed, well known former Ukiah resident, is in town this week on his regular rounds for the R. G. Dunn Commercial Agency. Pat has a host of friends among the older residents here who are always glad to see him.
